Conversations with Wilder, an invaluable, photo-intensive volume, is a kind of remake of Truffaut's must-read interview book Hitchcock, with Cameron Crowe in the inquisitive Truffaut role and wily 93-year-old Billy Wilder as the crafty master director. Drawing on his experience interviewing the monsters of rock and his deep, shot-by-shot knowledge of Wilder's work, Crowe gently and cunningly coaxes answers from Wilder--arguably today's most influential living director--on what made his hits ...

Wilder is intermittently interesting, but Cameron Crowe is an insufferable jackass more fascinated in showing how much Wilder likes him than in actually asking any good questions. Mostly this is a book of gossip about movie stars. It feels like a third of the book is spent talking about Marilyn Monroe.
