If you work with kindergarten, first grade, or second grade children, you may be familiar with or just discovering "guided reading" as a strategy to help your students become good readers. Guided reading is one component of a four-block reading program, developed by Pat Cunningham and Dottie Hall, which consists of self-selected reading, shared reading, writing, and working with words.

Guided Reading in the Primary Classroom | Scholastic

Guided reading helps students develop greater control over the reading process through the development of reading strategies which assist decoding and construct meaning. The teacher guides or 'scaffolds' their students as they read, talk and think their way through a text (Department of Education, 1997).

Guided reading

Guided reading was explained as a small group, round-robin reading scenario. Each student reads a page/paragraph from a text, specifically selected for their guided reading group. The students that aren't reading aloud, follow along with the student who is reading.
